“Can I Tell You Something”: Understanding How Children Disclose Abuse and How You Can be your Child’s Ally

Rebecca is a Licensed Clinical Social Worker and an expert in the field of child forensic evaluations. She is uniquely qualified, particularly in the area of childhood sexual abuse, due to her own personal experiences along with many years of working with children who have experienced sexual abuse, physical abuse, neglect, and exposure to violence. She is a graduate of the University of Tennessee and loves her Vols! Rebecca, her family, and their two rescue dogs live in the mountains of Western North Carolina and spend their free time hiking, camping, and enjoying the great outdoors. Rebecca and her husband recently became first-time parents!
