16-year-old Jay

arrived at Thornwell angry and closed-off, and rightfully so, he'd been through a lot. During his time here, through therapy and enrichment, he has begun to heal and is making significant progress in building strong and healthy relationships.

He was recently reunified with his brother and sister, and the things he learned here have changed his family. They are stronger, closer, and intentionally building a positive future together.

Please join us in praying for Jay and his siblings, their relationships, and their continued growth as a family.
