Your support helps Aaliyah THRIVE!

When Aaliyah entered Thornwell's Attachment-Based Residential Care program last year, she felt hopeless. She suffered from frequent panic attacks and flashbacks. Her aunt reached out to Thornwell, desperate for help navigating generational family trauma and complicated relationships. Because loving people like you care and give, Aaliyah received transformational care through therapy, medication management, academic services, and spiritual nurture. Today, she is thriving and equipped with new skills and a community of support. Her family remains actively involved in her care, visits regularly, and is committed to doing their own work towards healing with the support of Thornwell's care team.

We run on love and donations from generous people like you who believe children and families should have all they need to THRIVE! For long-time donor and Thornwell Board Trustee Craig Garner, the choice to support children and families through Thornwell is an easy one:

“At Thornwell, children and families at risk receive safe and loving homes, a sense of worth, personalized educational support and practical skills, and therapeutic and medical services, all at a very high level of quality. I have spoken with current and former residents of Thornwell and am deeply moved by their feeling that Thornwell saved them from a life of despair or worse. I happily support Thornwell and its unwavering commitment to transforming lives by providing extensive resources and care.”
