Thornwell Community Counseling

Individuals and families across our communities are facing growing mental health challenges. In the Southeast, 46% of children have experienced at least one adverse childhood experience (ACE), including hardship, instability, or violence—factors tied to lifelong struggles.

Help break cycles of trauma through Thornwell's Community Programs. Your generosity provides vulnerable children and families with the care, stability, and compassionate, community-driven support they need to heal, grow, and reach their full potential.

Transitional Living

Across South Carolina and the Southeast, children and youth in Child Protective Services urgently need trauma-informed care. Thousands face instability from abuse, neglect, or disrupted families—placing them at risk for lifelong challenges.

Your support of Thornwell's Care Programs helps children find safe, stable homes and access trauma-informed care, education, life skills, and a community that equips them to thrive as adults.

Momentum

In South Carolina, challenges in early childhood education, literacy, and poverty leave too many children behind before they even enter the classroom. Nearly one in five children in the state lives in poverty—a factor closely linked to lower kindergarten readiness, limited access to early learning, and literacy struggles.

Through Thornwell's Education Programs, your support expands high-quality early learning, strengthens foundational literacy, and assists families facing economic hardship—giving children a stronger start and a brighter future.

Miles always dreamed of playing baseball like his friends, but circumstances never allowed it. When he entered foster care at age 11, he gave up on being a “typical” kid. That changed when Thornwell foster parent Vicki and her son Christian welcomed Miles into their home. Soon, he dared to dream again.

Every child deserves a safe, loving, stable home. Vicki has the support and resources she needs to champion Miles' dreams. Her car is packed with baseball gear; the laundry basket overflows, but it's worth it. Miles' team even won their championship, but his greatest victory was seeing Vicki and Christian cheering him on.

Your generosity can make moments like this possible, showing children like Miles they are worthy of big dreams and bright futures!
